Philip Hui is VP of Corporate Alliance for NAAAP-SF. In this role, Philip is responsible for developing and maintaining relationships with for-profit corporations.

Previously, Philip was Board Member and Corporate Relations Co-Chair with the Boston chapter of NAAAP. In these roles, he worked closely with corporations such as The Boston Red Sox, Comcast, and Liberty Mutual to organize professional development workshops and to aid diversity initiatives within the respective groups. Philip also served as a Scholarship Committee member to evaluate applications and to interview candidates for awards of $10,000 in scholarship funds.

Professionally, Philip is an R&D Engineer with a medical device startup in Redwood City developing an advanced wound therapy device. Before moving to California in mid-2008, Philip was Project Leader at an orthopedic medical device startup in Beverly, MA where he successfully led the development and commercialization of a Class II implant device.

Philip holds a B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering from Wentworth Institute of Technology in Boston, MA. He is an avid snowboarder and enjoys dining out with family and friends.
